Featured Major

Art

Art professionals use creative expression and aesthetics to communicate ideas, thoughts, and feelings.

The Art Department at UW-Parkside offers a degree with three options: Digital Arts major, Studio Arts major or a General Arts major. Art students work in well equipped, uncrowded studios with a faculty seriously committed to quality teaching as well as to production, exhibition and publication in their own areas of professional specialization. Advanced art students may pursue Studio Art concentrations in Art Education, Crafts, Ceramics, Drawing, Painting, Printmaking, Sculpture, and Interdisciplinary Arts; as well as Digital Arts concentrations in Animation, Graphic Design and Illustration. To get accepted into a concentration a student must pass a portfolio review. It is possible for a student to do a double concentration in the Art Department.

What skills will I develop?

The art department stresses a through background in the visual arts with well-rounded experiences in both the two and three-dimensional studios, as well as in art history and criticism and in art education.

History

History is the intellectual discipline that describes, reconstructs, and interprets the human past in order to inform our sense of present. It provides students with skills and perspectives necessary to integrate a significant body of knowledge over time and across disciplinary lines, to think critically, and to assess the interaction between continuity and change. The study of the past broadens our perspective and allows us to discover essential elements of human existence.

What skills will I develop?

- ◆ Identify past events, ideas and facts
- ◆ Collect and organize historical data
- ◆ Make keen observations and solve problems
- ◆ Analyze, synthesize, and interpret information

Careers in History

- ◆ Archivist/Archival Specialist
