

Wednesday, January 25, 2012

12:30 – 1:30 p.m.

Spruce Room, Student Center

Special Guest Presenter:

Dr. Chris Penny

Associate Professor of Educational Technology
West Chester University of Pennsylvania

Dr. Penny will discuss guiding principles and best practices that are being used to shape and re-imagine classrooms and pedagogy for tomorrow. This session is non-technical in nature and will investigate how institutions are adapting their approach to education to ensure preparedness for the new mobile learners coming to campus, with an emphasis on the iPad.

Dr. Penny is an Apple Distinguished Educator and recently published a book titled Technology Leadership in Teacher Education: Integrated Solutions and Experiences. His most recent research revolves around the topic of mobile pedagogy.

This Brown Bag session is sponsored by the Teaching and Learning Center and the Provost's Office.

Upcoming Events

First Wednesday Series: Learning Integrated for New Knowledge (LINK), Wed., Feb. 1, 12-12:50 p.m., Hickory Room-Student Center

New York Times in College Panel Discussion, Wed., Feb. 8, 12-12:50 p.m., Hickory Room-Student Center

Visit www.uwp.edu/departments/teaching.center/events.cfm for the complete events schedule.