

New York Times in College Panel Discussion

Wednesday, February 8, 2012

12:00 – 12:50 p.m.

Hickory Room, Student Center

Panelist:

Michael Gurtman, Psychology,

Patti Cleary, Geosciences

Chris Zanowski, Community Based Learning

In this session panel members will discuss how they have used the New York Times in their classroom. The focus will be on actual assignments and examples of how our students have responded to this program. Learn how you can utilize the NYTimes in the curriculum to facilitate student engagement and student learning.

Note: You may still register to participant in the NYTimes in College this semester at the T&LC's Request for Proposals webpage.
<http://www.uwp.edu/departments/teaching.center/rfps.cfm>

Lunch will be provided by the NYTimes.

This Brown Bag session is sponsored by PSG, the Provost's Office, Teaching and Learning Center and the NYTimes.

Upcoming Events:

Emerging Technologies : Lecture Capture

Wednesday February 15, 12:00-12:50 p.m., Learning Technology Lab, WYLL D103

Emerging Technologies : Blackboard Collaborate (formerly Elluminate)

Wednesday February 29, 12:00-12:50 p.m., Learning Technology Lab, WYLL D103

Visit www.uwp.edu/departments/teaching.center/events.cfm for the complete Spring schedule.