

Reading Between the Lives: Enhancing Students' Engagement with Reading

Thursday, March 5, 2009
The Pyle Center
702 Langdon Street
Madison, Wisconsin 53706

Call to Conference

Extended deadline for is Monday, February 23, 2009

OPID is sponsoring a free, one-day conference on best practices in reading to be held on Thursday, March 5, 2009, at The Pyle Center in Madison. The goal of this conference is to bring together UW-System educators from across the disciplines to develop practices that address students' reading challenges.

Our keynote speaker will be Dr. Corey Anton, Associate Professor in Communication at Grand Valley State University. Dr. Anton is the author of Selfhood and Authenticity, winner of the Erving Goffman Award for Outstanding Scholarship in the Ecology of Social Interaction, presented by the Media Ecology Association.

Fees and Payment: The Conference registration is free, and meals will be provided. Participants are responsible for travel and lodging.