ONE MAN, TWO GUVNORS

The Main Stage Theater at Parkside — Sunday, March 11, 2018 2 PM

Note: March 11 begins Daylight Savings Time, so be sure to “spring ahead.”

In the British seaside town of Brighton, things are looking up for Francis Henshall: he’s been hired as a valet—by two different men! The only problem is that in order for Francis to get paid (and eat lunch) he has to keep his two guvnors from guessing what he is up to. This comedy by Richard Bean is one of the cleverest of the last decade, filled with satire, songs, slapstick, and glittering one-liners.

Based on the 1743 Italian commedia dell’arte masterpiece by Carlo Goldoni The Servant of Two Masters (Il servitor de due padroni), this play opened at the National Theatre in London in 2011, toured in the UK, and opened on Broadway in April 2012. James Corden reprised the main role for American audiences, and received a Tony for Best Actor in a Play in 2012. The play was nominated for six other Tony awards.

We’ll attend the play’s final performance at UW-Parkside, the Sunday, March 11 matinee. As usual, we will buy the tickets and have a list of the ALL members who have registered with us. You should arrive at the Rita/Comm Arts building by 1:45 PM, and we’ll direct you to the play in the Main Stage Theater. It’s on a Sunday, so no parking problems!
