Technology Pathway Partners

Gateway Technical College / UW-Milwaukee / UW-Parkside

Southeastern Wisconsin is poised to continue its leadership position advancing the technology and innovation demands of the 21st century through sustained collaboration and partnership between industry and education.

Technology Pathway Partners presents collaborative initiatives to help build the talent capacity of southeastern Wisconsin through new opportunities for tech-ed and pre-engineering professional educators, and transfer agreements for engineering students.

UW-Parkside Chancellor Debbie Ford, Gateway Technical College President and CEO Bryan Albrecht, UW-Milwaukee Interim Chancellor Mark Mone, U.S. Rep. Paul Ryan, Snap-on Incorporated Chairman and CEO Nick Pinchuk, and Wisconsin Department of Workforce Development Secretary Reggie Newson are scheduled to share their perspectives on the important value of Technology Pathway Partners.

The Technology Pathway Partners announcement is hosted by Snap-on Incorporated at the company's Innovation Works.
