

Dear Faculty and Instructional Staff,

All of the reports we are receiving from you, from the deans, and from the Innovations in Learning staff indicate that the vast majority of you are prepared to continue teaching your courses in revised formats. Thank you again for all of your good work, understanding and patience.

Please take a moment to review the attachment (also sent last week) that summarizes the technical resources available to you and provides some tips for effective online teaching. Please don't hesitate to reach out to the Innovations staff, innovations@uwp.edu, or the CTS Help Desk for support. Also, keep in mind that while we do not want you to alter your expectations for the quality of student work, many of you may need to adjust your expectations in terms of content coverage and the nature and quantity of assignments.

As always, feel free to contact us with any questions or concerns via e-mail.

Sincerely,

Rob Ducoffe
Provost & Vice Chancellor
