

How to Design Effective and Engaging Assignments for Community-Based Learning Courses

Come with ideas; leave with a new assignment.

Friday, April 1, 2016 . Noon to 3 p.m.

Walnut Room, Student Center

Coffee & Lunch provided. RSVP by Friday, March 25th

Guest speaker:

Kathleen Daly, UW-Madison's Writing Across the Curriculum

What can you do to get great work from your students in your community-based learning courses? Design great assignments! This workshop will share proven strategies for designing assignments in community-based learning courses in any discipline. We'll focus on using writing to deepen students' engagement with, and reflection on, their time in community spaces and projects and with course readings. We'll also discuss samples of effective assignments and how assignment design can help you respond to students' work more efficiently. The workshop includes time to revise or draft a new assignment.

Presented by UW-Parkside's Community Engagement.

This event is made possible by a mini-conference development grant from UW-Parkside's Teaching & Learning Center.