

THE WOMEN'S, GENDER, AND SEXUALITY STUDIES COMMITTEE INVITES YOU TO

Film Screening and Q&A

with the director
Ana María Jessie Serna

Monday, March 15 | 12 pm

› JOIN ON ZOOM

FISHING HER: MUJERES DE SAL

Colombia | 2018 | 11 min | English/Creole/Spanish languages | English subtitles

SYNOPSIS

This award-winning documentary features twelve fisherwomen from the archipelago of San Andrés, Providencia and Santa Catalina who tell their stories and that of their archipelago through their experiences at sea, challenging and carrying out work seen as masculine. They describe extraordinary memories of their relationship with the sea, fishing, and their daily life. Screened at over twenty global events and some of the most important international film festivals since its release, Fishing Her: Mujeres de sal received the award for Best Caribbean Documentary at the Festival Audiovisual de los Montes de María in 2019, as well as Best Documentary by Vive Afro magazine in 2020.

SINOPSIS

Doce mujeres pescadoras del Archipiélago de San Andrés, Providencia y Santa Catalina cuenta su historia y la de su archipiélago a través de sus vivencias en el mar desafiando y realizando una labor vista como masculina. Así describen unas extraordinarias memorias de su relación con el mar, la pesca y su vida cotidiana.

PREMIOS

Mejor Documental Caribe:
Festival Audiovisual de los
Montes de María (2019)

Mejor Documental: Revista
Vive Afro (2020)

Ana María Jessie Serna

Major in you.

SPONSORED BY

College of Arts and Humanities
College of Social Sciences and Professional Studies
Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies Committee

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN PARKSIDE